

When a featured image is hovered, a semi-transparent overlay will come over the image, with short blurb saying why the product is featured, as well as a button to view product.

An example of this image hover can be found on <http://madebyfieldwork.com/work/>

Three ambience images will go on slider.

This will link to the deliver section in the services page.

When images are hovered over, a "view product" box, and a coloured overlay will appear.

Product image and title will link to single product page.

Images on the left side will continue down the page, while the right side of the page will stay static.

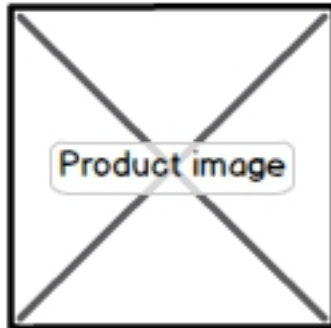

Here's an example of how the single product page will act:

Think about if we want the form to be surrounded in the border. Look at <https://www.baysidefurniture.com/> for example of form without border.
